

new england board of higher education's tuition break

for new england residents

The New England Board of Higher Education's Tuition Break, the New England Regional Student Program (RSP), provides a tuition discount to New England residents when they enroll in approved degree programs at out-of-state public colleges and universities in Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Vermont.

The approved undergraduate and graduate degree programs are available in all fields of study, including art, business, communications, education, engineering, health professions, languages, legal studies, natural resources and the sciences. Residents of a particular New England state are eligible for an approved major at certain out-of-state New England public colleges, when none of the in-state public colleges offers a comparable program. In some cases, students are also eligible if an out-of-state college is closer to home than an in-state college.

Frequently asked questions

How long has the Regional Student Program (RSP) Tuition Break program existed?

The New England Board of Higher Education (NEBHE) established the New England Regional Student Program (RSP) in 1957-58. Over the years, it has been known as the “Apple program,” and more recently is called the Tuition Break program. All of New England’s public colleges and universities participate in the RSP. The RSP has helped New England families with discounts on more than 220,000 annual tuition bills.

Is the RSP only a New England program?

Yes. The program is only for permanent New England residents attending out-of-state public colleges and universities in the six New England states—Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Vermont.

How does a student qualify for the RSP?

As a permanent resident of a New England state, a student is eligible for the RSP when enrolled in an approved degree program offered by a specific public college or university in another New England state. Approved majors (associate, bachelor’s and graduate) for residents of each New England state are listed in the annual catalogs and program database at www.nebhe.org/tuitionbreak.

At certain colleges, students may also qualify when the out-of-state college is closer to home than the in-state college offering the same program. The colleges allowing “proximity” eligibility are listed on the “Eligibility” page at www.nebhe.org/tuitionbreak.

How does a student apply for the RSP?

A student completes the college’s application for admission and declares an approved major offered through the RSP by that college. Some college applications include a box to check for “New England Regional” or “RSP.” Otherwise, a student should indicate “Applying for Regional Student Program (RSP) status.” NEBHE does not require a separate application.

The college notifies a student of RSP status usually at the time of acceptance to the college. Note: Some programs have special requirements and/or are not available to freshman students (see footnotes to programs).

Can a student already enrolled at a college declare an RSP major at that college?

Usually. An enrolled student needs to contact the registrar and/or the college’s RSP campus representative, listed in the RSP catalogs, at www.nebhe.org/tuitionbreak.

What happens if a student changes from an approved RSP major to one not approved?

A student will be charged the full out-of-state tuition rate from that point forward.

How much of a discount is the RSP?

The average annual tuition savings per full-time RSP student is currently $7,000. The RSP allows an eligible student to pay a regional rate, which is significantly less than out-of-state tuition. The rate is based on a percentage (up to 175 percent) of a college’s in-state rate. Current rates are available on the “Tuition Savings” page at www.nebhe.org/tuitionbreak, as well as on the individual colleges’ websites.

How are degree programs approved for RSP status?

Undergraduate and graduate majors are approved for RSP status on an annual basis. The residents of a particular state become eligible for an RSP major after a review by that state’s public colleges determines that a comparable major or concentration is not offered in-state.

Why are certain programs, which aren’t offered in a student’s home state, not offered under the RSP?

Sometimes a college or university decides not to offer certain majors, such as high-demand programs, under the RSP. Also, a few programs are not offered by any New England public college (Examples: Professional Golf Management, Aerospace Engineering).

What happens if a college decides to discontinue offering a major through the RSP?

If a college withdraws a major from the RSP, but still offers the major, students currently enrolled through the RSP are grandfathered.

Can the RSP be used to attend a private college or a college outside New England?

No. The RSP can only be used at New England’s two-year and four-year state colleges and universities.

Is an RSP-eligible student eligible to apply for financial aid?

Yes. A student should complete the FAFSA federal application and any financial aid applications required by the college(s) in order to be considered for any type of financial aid (scholarships, grants, loans and/or work-study). The RSP is a tuition discount, not a scholarship or grant.

Tuition Break Programs for NEW HAMPSHIRE Residents

The New England Board of Higher Education's Tuition Break, the New England Regional Student Program (RSP), provides a discount on out-of-state tuition to New Hampshire residents, when they enroll in approved degree programs at specific state colleges and universities in Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Vermont. New Hampshire residents are eligible for these degree programs, because they are not offered by any New Hampshire state colleges or universities.

Visit www.nebhe.org/tuitionbreak for a list of all undergraduate and graduate degree programs, college contact information, tuition rates and savings, and details on eligibility.

2010-11 Bachelor's Programs

The bachelor's degree programs approved under the RSP Tuition Break for New Hampshire residents for the 2010-11 academic year are listed below. Note: Each program is offered under the RSP Tuition Break only by the college(s) indicated. Some programs have restrictions or special requirements, which are explained in the footnotes.

2010-11 Graduate Programs

A wide variety of graduate programs are approved under the RSP Tuition Break for New Hampshire residents. Visit www.nebhe.org/tuitionbreak: For a list of approved programs, view and download the RSP Tuition Break Graduate Catalog or search the RSP Tuition Break Database. Learn more about Eligibility for Graduate Programs on the "Eligibility" page; view Graduate tuition rates on the "Savings" page.

Out-of-state tuition discount

The RSP Tuition Break allows eligible students to pay a discounted regional tuition rate. Public colleges and universities usually charge out-of-state tuition to students who permanently reside in other states and in-state tuition to students who permanently reside in the state where the college or university is located. Current tuition rates are available on the “Tuition Savings” page at www.nebhe.org/tuitionbreak, as well as on the individual colleges’ websites.

Example:

In-state tuition	$6,000
Out-of-state tuition	$18,000
Regional (RSP) tuition	$10,500
Tuition discount	$7,500

New England Board of Higher Education (NEBHE)

NEBHE is a nonprofit, congressionally authorized, interstate agency whose mission is to foster cooperation and the efficient use of resources among New England's approximately 280 colleges and universities. NEBHE was created by the New England Higher Education Compact, a 1955 agreement among the states of Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Vermont. NEBHE is funded by the six New England states.

NEBHE gratefully acknowledges the following organizations for their support of its projects and initiatives: Century Bank • Finance Authority of Maine (FAME) • Massachusetts Educational Financing Authority (MEFA) • National Science Foundation • Nellie Mae Education Foundation • New Hampshire Higher Education Assistance Foundation (NHHEAF) • Rhode Island Higher Education Assistance Authority (RIHEAA) • TD Bank • Vermont Student Assistance Corporation (VSAC) • XAP Corporation.

NEBHE established the New England Regional Student Program (RSP) in 1957-58. Since its inception, the RSP has provided New England residents with savings on more than 220,000 annual tuition bills. The RSP has at the same time helped individual New England states avoid spending billions of dollars in capital and operating expenditures for academic programs already offered elsewhere in the region.
