RHODE ISLAND - Benefits of New England Board of Higher Education Compact, FY 2017

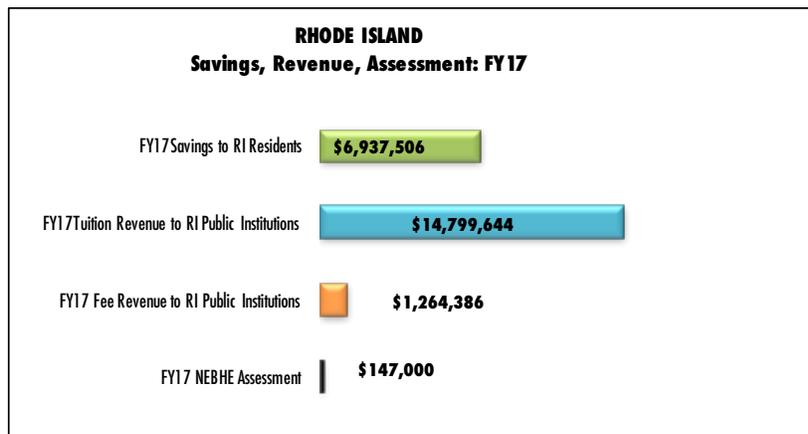

- The New England Board of Higher Education (NEBHE) is a federally authorized, state-created “compact” that provides several cost-saving education programs for the six New England states. The primary program is the Regional Student Program (RSP) Tuition Break, providing more than $1 billion in savings to New England since 1958.
- NEBHE’s RSP Tuition Break provides Rhode Island residents with access to specialized undergraduate and graduate degree programs at public campuses in Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Vermont — all at a substantial tuition discount.
- NEBHE’s RSP Tuition Break also brings significant tuition and fee revenue to Rhode Island public institutions paid by students coming from the other five states to pursue specialized programs.

- State assessments to NEBHE also support activities and operations of NEBHE Board of Delegates (representing all six states) and the NEBHE President’s Office.
- Total state support from all six New England states in FY17 totaled $1,076,000—less than one half of the organization’s total budget. This is a decrease from $1,601,000 in FY02.
- The NEBHE Board has frozen Rhode Island’s annual assessment at $147,000 from FY08 to FY18. NEBHE obtains grant funding from philanthropic organizations, sponsorships and event registration fees to provide a wide range of additional activities, benefits and cost savings to the six New England states.
